Careless Driving Brings $25 Fine

LICENSE TO DRIVE SUSPENDED FOR SIX MONTHS

Murray Johnston of Queensville, aged 17, driver of a car involved in an accident on April 5, in which Eric Pickrell of Queensville was killed, appeared at Newmarket Police Court on Tuesday on a charge of dangerous driving and was remanded in custody one week by Magistrate W. E. McIlveen.

"My brother and I were driving a '30 Ford, had been to Newmarket and on our way home stopped at Queensville and went into the barber shop," testified Harvey Pickrell, the first witness called. "We saw Johnston there. We left the shop first and he came out after us. We started up the highway at about thirty miles an hour, and he passed us. Then when we got over the cemetery hill we passed him. We were going between 35 and 40 miles an hour then. Murray turned out to pass us when we started up the next hill, and must have gone off the road. He turned off in front of us and I think he hit our car. I couldn't say what happened. I was knocked unconscious and had a broken shoulder and bruises about my head. My brother was thrown out of the car." "I saw them all at the barber shop at Queensville and left shortly after they left," stated David Rollings of Queensville. "As I came up the cemetery hill I saw the lights of these cars in the hollow below. I didn't take any more notice and was watching the road ahead. The next thing I saw they were stopped half way up the hill. The Pickrell car was in the east ditch right side up. Eric was lying on the road about fifty feet from the car. Harvey was in the east ditch just a few feet from the car. The Johnston car was crossways on the pavement about one hundred feet north of the Pickrell car, on its left side. Murray Johnston got out of his car and said he wasn't injured. He said he had lost control of his car."

"I received a call at ten to one on April 5 and arrived at the scene of the accident ten minutes later," stated Constable J. Jardine. "I saw the Pickrell car facing in a northeasterly direction in the east ditch and seventy-five feet farther north and to the west of the centre line Eric Pickrell was being held in a sitting position. The Johnston car was facing in a northwesterly direction lying on its west side. Another car came from the north and took the two Pickrell boys to the hospital. The accused was walking around and seemed to be quite normal. I could trace no sign of liquor. I marked the position of the cars and the following morning, in company with Officer Hill, we measured the road and marks. The night was dark and dry, and the pavement was absolutely dry. There was no fog. We traced skid marks from the Pickrell car for a distance of one hundred and fifteen feet, and it appeared to have turned (Continued on Page 5, Col. 4)

Extensive Program For H. S. Open Night

THE BALLET - PLAY - CONCERT

Next Thursday and Friday, in the Town Hall will be along the lines of last year's entertainment given for the Red Cross by Mrs. Belugin.

Again Miss Jean Davis will entertain us with her rich, ever-growing voice. Again there will be a play, a charming one-act comedy, "The Old Bull," with Mrs. J. O. Little, Dr. W. Nohle, Joe Cribb, Clark Hill and John Fraser as actors.

Miss Alexandra Belugin will dance a Russian "Gopak" that will make you jump up and forget how hard the town hall seats are.

And finally there will be a whole bevy of beauties, little not quite so little girls (their names will appear on programmes) who will perform a real ballet "Awakening Of The Spring."

Oodles of spring flowers, daffodils, lilies, (no—no dandelions) awaken at dawn and stage a dance that has to be seen to be appreciated. And the Hungarian dance. What girls, what costumes, what temperaments . . .

See you at the Town Hall next Thursday.

SALVAGE COLLECTION

West Side Only — Saturday, April 18

The Boy Scouts and Cubs will collect salvage materials on the west side of town on Saturday of this week.

Rubber—shortage is acute. An effort will be made to obtain 25,000 tons of old rubber in Canada this year. Rubber tires, tubes, hot water bottles, footwear, rubber heels, fruit jar rings, garden hose, etc. are all valuable. Please make an effort to dig up all the old rubber this week.

Newspapers, magazines and all scrap paper, rags, rubber, metal, bones, fats, tinfoil and cork are all needed.

The Cubs will be out Saturday morning with bags and string to get materials ready for the trucks in the afternoon. Please have all materials outside by 1:30 o'clock.

Please do NOT include tin cans as salvage material as they are of no value.

The Boy Scout Salvage Depot on Huron Street is open at all times for those who wish to deliver any salvage materials.

LIONS URGED TO GET BEHIND VOTE

POSITION AVAIL- ABLE ON RETURN FROM ACTIVE SERVICE

Leave of absence to go on active service was granted Captain Denis Mungovan by the Newmarket high school board at a regular meeting held Friday. The motion by Messrs. G. L. Manning and W. J. Geer stipulated that his position on the school staff would be available for him on his return, and that his present salary would be maintained to the end of June.

The board authorized Principal Bastedo to employ a secretary for his office, in view of Mr. Mungovan's leave of absence, and he was also given authority to employ a temporary substitute teacher later should he find that one would be required to maintain the efficiency of the school. If any other vacancy subsequently arose he was authorized to advertise for applicants.

L. A. C. MERVYN WAINMAN TELLS OF ENGLAND

Dear Mom and All:

Well this is the last day of my leave and I didn't have a very exciting time. I left the day after I was discharged from the hospital and went to London. When I arrived in London I was feeling terrible, so I went to a red cross first aid post, and the nurse told me I had a temperature of 103, so they put me in the hospital for two days and then let me continue my leave.

I spent three days in London and then came back to the station disgusted. I came back two days early, but I had enough of walking around London alone. I was nearly broke and might have stayed a little longer, but they just advanced us a little money to go on leave as they claim they haven't our records yet. Everything is so expensive in London. I went to see a show and it cost me 4/6 which is $1.08. Well, a couple of shows, a dance and your bed and meals and you're broke with only three pounds.

I certainly saw a lot though that lets you know that there is a war on. Some parts of London are all in ruins, while other parts haven't been touched. Down in the underground railways there are beds and cots that people still sleep in every night for fear of Jerry's coming over. We didn't have any air raids while I was there, but last night we had one at the station. It was in the middle of the night, and when the sirens went and the loud speakers, a couple of fellows were hurt running to the shelters, but there were no eggs dropped. One night the warning went and the three of us on our billet slept right through it.

You know, mother, the girls at home have no idea how lucky they are. They think they're doing a lot by knitting a few pairs of socks or giving a little money, but that isn't anything to the sacrifices the women and girls are doing here. If you ever see the clothes that they wear, the old shoes and stockings

CONDITION RIGHTEDE

A little condensation in the head of a steam sterilized milk can, where the lid of the can is left on, can cause the dairymen many a headache before he finds it is the direct cause of his high bacteria count.

The Newmarket Dairy had the headache, but when the cause was found, it was soon righted and now they can boast of as good a milk report from the Provincial Laboratory as the best of them.

EDITORIAL

BE A "YES" MAN

A public meeting is being held in the Town Hall Friday evening with prominent speakers participating, to impress upon you as a Canadian, why you should vote "yes" on Monday, April 27. To be a "yes" man at most times does not appeal to any of us, but this time let us individually and collectively use our influence in rolling up such an expression of opinion on April 27 that North York will lead the Dominion.

Did you ever stop to think that thousands of men in every walk of life have given up their life of ease to fight, millions of Canadians are contributing millions of dollars in taxes, millions of people are sacrificing small luxuries that formerly meant much, dreams and ambitions have been shoved to the background. Canada's war effort in guns and tanks, in ammunition and manpower has been magnificent, yet, the year 1942 is going to call us to sacrifices as yet undreamed. If we weather the storm of the coming few months it will be a titanic effort, and thousands of homes in Canada and many in our community are going to mourn for brave sons that have given their all.

Does it need a bomb dropped at your door to awaken you? Can you forget politics for once and vote Canadian—not Conservative, Liberal or C.C.F. Do you really feel that Canada should participate to the last ounce in this struggle, or are you just interested in the weather?

Remember—you can have your views of Mackenzie King and his cabinet, their shortcomings and their collective faults. This is not a vote of confidence.

Brother, it is time that you and I and the other fellow took this war seriously.

EDITOR'S LAMENT

The following is clipped from a newspaper: "A lot of people think that editing a newspaper is easy, but from experience we can say that it is no picnic, because readers are hard to please."

"If we print jokes, people say we are silly."

"If we don't, they say we are too serious."

"If we clip things from other papers, we are too lazy to write them ourselves."

"If we don't, we are stuck on our own stuff."

"If we don't print contributions, we do not appreciate true genius, and if we print them, the paper is filled with junk."

"If we make a change in the other fellow's write-up, we are too critical."

"If we don't, we are asleep."

"Now, like as not, some guys will say we swiped this from some other newspaper."

"And we did."

UNPLEASANT BUT IMPERATIVE

The following item is gleaned from the April issue of "The Blue Bell":

Parsimony is not a pretty thing. In the adjective its implications are unpleasant, often ugly, attributes to living.

Penny-pinching was never popular in peace-time. It is not easy, not pleasant—but it is imperative—to make it so in the fulfilment of wartime economies.

We are not a niggardly people in this democracy; not too sparing in our expenditures; not frugal to excess. Two years of war have changed us little; have altered our daily course in this regard not nearly enough.

That, in short, is the lesson we must learn—and profit by—at once. War savings campaigns and victory loans offer means of investment, at good interest. The return on each is a preferential obligation assumed by Canada itself. There is no safer place to put one's money. If time proves that to be incorrect, it will not matter because the victory will have been lost."

Mr. Ilsey, the Minister of Finance, cracked down on needless spending in the democratic way when, addressing a Toronto audience the other evening, he told some plain, drab truths about being face to face with a "tremendous financial task" and burdened with a "responsibility that is an overwhelming one." To meet it, he said simply, "We must adopt the most parsimonious attitude possible."

That is our cue, yours and mine, to tighten purse-strings as we have never done before; to buy nothing unnecessarily; to be frugal to excess and, thereby, to speed the victory. The one sure, safe place for whatever we manage to save through curbed spending is in more war savings certificates.

NOTE AND COMMENT

A United States commentator, who admits that he is severely criticized for his views, says: "Love enemies? Bah! This is a war of extermination and salt won't change the flavour. We must go in and get those birds, lock, stock and barrel."

Save Your Money

Be prepared! Be prepared for any eventuality. Common prudence is a virtue more in demand today than ever before. Line yourself up with the war effort for this is prudent as well as patriotic.

Watch your savings balance. There will be income taxes—War Loan subscriptions—War Savings and many other necessary demands—but watch for non-essentials. We don't need so many THINGS—we need reserves—in materials in men and in money.

Be prepared and keep your savings account with one of our branches.

A citizen complains that he was almost run down by a youth on a bicycle one day last week who didn't have a bell on his wheel. He points out that it is a town by-law to carry some device to warn pedestrians.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board advises us to lay in our stock of winter coal with as little delay as possible, as transportation facilities may not be available next winter. After paying income and municipal taxes during the past couple of weeks, some householders are wondering where they are going to get the money with which to buy fuel at this season, says The Carlton Place Canadian.

Latest figures place the population of India at between 350,000,000 and four hundred million, made up of 220,000,000 Hindus, 70,000,000 Moslems, 100,000,000 Parsees, and 11,000,000 Buddhists. In the country some 225 languages are spoken. To bring into harmony such a mighty population with such a diversity of views, religious and otherwise, is part of the tremendous task undertaken by Sir Stafford Cripps, acting for the British Government. The outcome of the effort is being awaited with great interest in every part of the world.

By Rev. Arthur Greer

At our Sunday morning services of worship, we are considering a number of the great doctrines of the Faith. However, the writer feels that the evening studies in the parables of Jesus would be more easily produced on paper.

Last Sunday evening, we looked at that parable found in Matt. 9: 14-16. Verse 16 reads, "No man putteth a piece of new cloth unto an old garment, for that which is put in to fill it up taketh from the garment, and the rent is made worse." We gave to the sermon the title "PATCHES."

A few years ago, patches were considered disgraceful and ugly things. A man with patched clothes would walk in the shadows, or perhaps stay at home. But a generation back, patching was more in vogue, and it is safe to say that half of the children at school had their clothing adorned with patches taken from the discarded clothing of father, mother or the older brothers and sisters. Older people will appreciate the following verse, and to many it will bring vivid memories:

"There are Pete, Jim, Jack, George Joseph and Ned, A half dozen boys to be clothed out and fed. I buy for them all plain victuals to eat; But clothing—I only buy clothing for Pete."

Jim got them second hand and patched, and so right down the line to Ned, and by the time a garment reached little Ned, it must have resembled Joseph's coat of many colours.

Now that war is waging, patches will come into vogue again. The man who throws away his partly worn clothes will be called a traitor to his country, while indignant neighbour women will snatch them from his garbage boxes, and make from them patriotic patches for little Jimmie's trousers, or Mary's old spring coat.

It was one ray of Jesus' glory that He could point to the most common-place matters of life, and weave around them lessons on which men would preach for centuries. Jesus taught us a lesson from the despised and lowly patch in a garment.

THE MEANING OF THE PARABLE:—Certain disciples of John the Baptist came to Jesus with the question, "Why do your disciples never fast?" All John's disciples observed this religious rite; all the Pharisees do it. Why not your followers?"

Why do you suppose they asked that question? In the first place, it was due to a complete misunderstanding of the mission of Jesus. They thought He was another reformer, who had come to put a few patches on the tattered and threadbare garment of the Hebrew religion. But that is exactly what Jesus did not come to do, and it is that tremendously important fact He would have us learn from this brief parable.

Jesus had not come to patch, He had come to make. He was not a Reformer, but a TRANSFORMER. He did not come to patch the old religions, but to make all things new, to give a new religion growing or springing from the ashes of the old; to give a new life to make new men.

THE ORIGIN OF THE PATCHWORK THEORY: For the purpose of this brief column, it will be sufficient to say that the patchwork theory is the natural outcome of our innate dissatisfaction. We are all conscious of something wrong within us. There is a greater or lesser conviction of sin down deep in every mortal mind. It is this conviction that causes us to pay attention when someone offers a means of improvement. Now, it may be safely said that all attempts to improve men's lives are like putting patches, new patches, on old garments. Usually, they simply increase the tear in the old garment, and in the end matters are worsened, rather than improved. Into a world that had tried almost every conceivable kind of patching, Jesus comes with the startling claim that He has something better than patching, a new garment to offer, a new life eternal in quality and duration.

Pot Pourri

By Golden Glow

This is the day after! After what, do I hear you say? Well, to be exact it is Friday, April 10, the day after last week's paper came out, and I was joyfully telling about our spring flowers, our crocus, snowdrops and bluebells (scilla, I should say) and looking for the English violets in our south borders, telling about the birds—and here I am between nine and ten today, Friday, April 10, sitting down at my writing table to BEWARE the weather!

I have just come in from sweeping away the snow to feed the birds. Yes—we are back to winter, that is, so far as the snow is concerned, but we know it won't last long—but believe me we are having a rare old snow storm. It is lying deep, two or three inches deep already, and a stiff wind is blowing as well. It is that wet, sticky snow, and it clings tightly to everything it touches.

It really is pretty to look out—yes, to LOOK out, but a lot more pleasant than being out! From where I sit I can see a robin-red-breast sitting all hunched up in the lilac as if he'd lost all his friends, so I decided to put more food out, rather expecting the sparrows had gone to bed, but no fear, for hardly had the robin flown over to the feeding table than along they came too, such a horde of them! But do you think Mr. Robin would share up? No indeed!

All the same those sparrows played tricks on him just like a bunch of mischievous boys. Three or four would come all together and while he chased one away, the other three would barge in, snatch a piece, and fly away to eat it.

Really it was great fun to watch them!

The robin would try to cover the food with his body, but the cheeky little sparrows would steal up and secure a piece right from under its tail feathers—and the robin would wheel round and chase it off, but the sparrow already had helped itself, so it didn't care. I think the pair of robins are spending the night on the side verandah, in fact, I hope they are, poor dears.

Did you know they are eating birds in England? You can get a sea-gull for 10 cts., and they say that while it is a bit tough, it tastes good! Pigeon pie will become popular no doubt, and maybe sparrow pie too! Isn't there a verse in the bible about sparrows sold for a farthing? Don't let us be so foolish as to say, "It can't happen here!" for by now we ought to know that it CAN happen here, and very likely will before this terrible war is over. However, that is a gloomy note to end on, and who knows but this may end all of a sudden! We can still hope for that solution, but if it does, we will surely know it is not we, ourselves, who have done it!

As I came back to my writing table I heard a gentle tap on the front door, and here was one of the boys on our street with a snow shovel, and wearing his high rubber boots, to see could he shovel my snow. I didn't wait for the job to be done, but went for my handbag and candy dish. When I got back to the door he had cleared the steps and was busy on the front walk. He came up the steps with a delighted smile when he saw what I had. I said: "Don't take your mitts off, I'll pop a candy into your pocket." That called forth another pleased smile and a big "Thank You" as I tucked the rest in his pocket, and a "That's the kind of candy I like!"

Oh! Oh! Here come birds from every direction, and the starlings have discovered there's "corn in Egypt!" This window faces out the same way as the side verandah. There's a big tree just over the fence in my neighbor's garden, and the starlings are there, a black cloud of them, flying in and out, making that peculiar little whining cry of theirs, and the sparrows have set up such a twittering! I guess the starlings gobbled up the food before the rest had a chance at it! They are so greedy! . . . I looked out and not a vestige of the food is left! I have a little wheat left over, I'll scatter it on the table I used to put their food on all winter!

Well, I believe the storm is over. I come and sit down here and write a few sentences, get up and do this and that, till it is now nearly eleven o'clock, so no more now. Quite likely the snow will all be melted by evening, but it was Hero I am again at my writing table, and I see I left off about 11 o'clock this morning, and now it is nearly 10:30 at night. It was all wrong in thinking it would all be melted and gone! It looked very much as if it would clear up about noon, but before one o'clock it began again and it kept it up till nearly seven o'clock, and such a quantity of snow has fallen, and it still lies white and deep all over everything. Pretty is too mild a word for the beauty of it—the trees are all outlined in white, and the evergreens are loaded.

A friend called up to tell me how particularly beautiful the evergreens looked outside the home of Dr. Case on Park Ave., so I resurrected my furry galoshes and went to have a look. I was glad I'd put on my heavy coat for I assure you it is cold to-night, but what I saw delighted me. It sure was worth a walk around the block to see such a lovely sight! It was just dark enough for one to need lights, and the windows were all lighted, with the lights shining out on these wonderful evergreens clustered along the whole front.

It is handsome at any time, but to-night it was exceptional! There is some fascination about the snow that nothing else gives!

Maybe the birds are not so fond of it. I've fed them all day long, and this evening I saw poor robin red-breast sitting all hunched up in the lilac as if he'd lost all his friends, so I decided to put more food out, rather expecting the sparrows had gone to bed, but no fear, for hardly had the robin flown over to the feeding table than along they came too, such a horde of them!

But do you think Mr. Robin would share up? No indeed!

All the same those sparrows played tricks on him just like a bunch of mischievous boys. Three or four would come all together and while he chased one away, the other three would barge in, snatch a piece, and fly away to eat it.

Really it was great fun to watch them!

The robin would try to cover the food with his body, but the cheeky little sparrows would steal up and secure a piece right from under its tail feathers—and the robin would wheel round and chase it off, but the sparrow already had helped itself, so it didn't care. I think the pair of robins are spending the night on the side verandah, in fact, I hope they are, poor dears.

Did you know they are eating birds in England? You can get a sea-gull for 10 cts., and they say that is a gloomy note to end on, and who knows but this may end all of a sudden! We can still hope for that solution, but if it does, we will surely know it is not we, ourselves, who have done it!

And now, here it is Saturday afternoon, and the snow is still lying thick on everything. Of course, it is melting, but it is going very slowly. I hear plenty of folks on their way to market had to be pulled out by the tow-truck, and I saw one man pass here with a little two-wheeled trailer attached to a tractor. He solved the problem very neatly, don't you think so? What the weather will be over the weekend remains to be seen, for the radio is not allowed to broadcast the weather any more, for fear it may be of assistance to the enemy. Cheer up, they say it's good for the farmers!

P.S.—May I add a post script? This is Monday morning between eight and nine o'clock, and I must really add a few lines to say that while we had wintry weather yesterday, the sky was the loveliest blue you ever saw, but there was a frosty chill in the air that made a furnace fire necessary. Then again to day the sky is a deep, deep azure, but still the air is frosty and snow lying thick on boulevard and garden. We'll hope it is what the farmers wanted—for certainly we folks living in town were not exactly delighted over such a snowfall! What a long "screed" all about the weather! However it was the main subject of conversation over the weekend!

THE SPRING TEA

The annual spring tea under the auspices of St. Paul's W.A. was held last Friday in the Parish Hall, which was decorated with yellow and mauve festoons and rosettes all round the hall. Daffodils were on each table, and the serviettes were decorated with daffodils as well.

As usual the garden fence divided the reception hall from the tea-room. The fence was gay with spring flowers and over the arbor entrance was a very realistic parrot.

The tea tables looked very attractive, while the menu was a spring salad with a patty of pressed meat, the cream cheese and tomato adding to the lettuce a pleasing touch of color. There were also pickles, bread and butter and assorted small cakes. Each table had its own tea service, and many were the pleased comments on the variety of dainty teapots.

It was a very successful and pleasing event, and the members of St. Paul's W.A. thank those who so cheerfully helped to make it such a success, and all who attended as well.

MANY CHANGES IN NEW TELEPHONE DIRECTORY

Discard Old Ones to Avoid Wrong
Numbers

Featured by a buff cover of somewhat different design, Newmarket's new telephone directory is being delivered to local subscribers this week. This cover will make it easier to distinguish the new book from the old, and will alternate with the green one used in the last issue.

Since there are a large number of new and changed listings in the alphabetical section alone, the importance of consulting the new book carefully before placing calls is obvious, if the "wrong number" nuisance is to be avoided.

To prevent errors, the old directory should be discarded promptly on receipt of the new one. It has been suggested that it be included with other paper to be contributed to the national salvage campaign. In order further to assist in conserving paper, those who are moving should not forget to take their telephone directories with them instead of obtaining a new one.

It is interesting to note that the Dominion Post Office collects well over $10,000 a year for delivering the directories of The Bell Telephone Company of Canada. In the largest cities, books are distributed by messenger, but all the smaller deliveries are made through His Majesty's mail.

The Agricultural War Committee of the County of York, under the chairmanship of the Warden, Earle Tooie, has just completed its first task—that of a farm census to obtain the actual 1941 and the estimated 1942 animal and crop production. The survey also took in farm labour needs and estimates on the probable needs of new machinery and repairs for the 1942 cropping season.

A total of 2385 reports were filed which represents 53% of the farmers of York owning and operating over 25 acres of land. The secretary of the committee, W. M. Cockburn, agricultural representative at Newmarket, explains that the organization and work on the survey was voluntary and well carried out. The set-up of the committee is such that each township is represented by one man and this man was responsible for the survey work in his township. The townships were then broken down into section units and one or two men did the actual canvassing in the school section. Considering that the work was voluntary and no one was compelled to complete the questionnaires, the survey was well done.

The survey showed that one half of the farmers are without adequate labour for 1942, but of these a large number signified their intention of carrying on without hired help or with the aid of some custom tractor work or with exchange of labour. One quarter of the farmers can and are willing to exchange labour with neighbours and this is going to overcome the scarcity of labour considerably. One quarter expressed willingness to employ high school boys for the summer months, which means that approximately 750 school boys will find employment on farms in York this summer.

The following are the estimated increases in animal population for 1942: Horses 1.65%, dairy cows 6.77%; dairy heifers 8.37%, yearling heifers 12.54%; dairy calves 13.00%; sows 6.59%; bacon hogs 22.73%; milking beef cows 5.77%; steers and heifers (marketed) 17.75%; sheep 1.17%; laying hens 30.63%; baby chicks 18.53%. It is gratifying to note that in the case of milk, pork and eggs all three of which are necessary to meet the increased domestic consumption and the increased Canadian quotas to Great Britain. Three-quarters of the farms disclosed that they were intending to produce more of these products in '42 than they did in '41.

To help meet the feed requirements for the increased livestock population—winter wheat for 1942 shows a 33.57% increase—spring grains 1.89% (a considerable increase when represented in acres) Hay 21.11%, pasture 3.48%, corn 10.19%, roots 3.15%, cash crop 13.45%.

The farm survey explodes the idea set forth by some agricultural pessimists that the large number of farm sales during the preceding 1½ years is depleting the

SUFFERS SEVERE BURNS,
LUCY AMELIA BACHE DIES

The death occurred at York county hospital on Friday, April 3, of Lucy Amelia Bache, who suffered severe burns while painting near a stove in the kitchen of her home at Sharon two days previously.

It is not known whether the skirt of her dress caught on fire while she was leaning over the stove to paint the ceiling above it, or whether she had spilled some paint on the stove and it had flared up, the flames catching her clothing.

Miss Bache had been in ill-health for quite a number of years, never being very strong but always active about the home.

Born near Ravenshoe, on Jan.
30, 1878, Lucy Amelia was the daughter of Jane Hoover and Benjamin Bache. She lived all her life near Ravenshoe until two weeks before the accident, when with her sisters, she moved to Sharon. She attended the Free Methodist church and tried to live up to its teachings. Miss Bache lived a quiet home life. She was very fond of her home and was always active either in the home, or in the garden, in which she took a great interest.

Miss Bache, with her sisters,
Miss Mary Bache and Miss Ina Bache, had been running the homestead near Ravenshoe for the past eight years, prior to moving to Sharon. They were the fourth generation on the homestead.

Always willing to lend helping hand whenever possible she will be greatly missed by all who knew her.

Surviving besides her sisters are one brother, Rev. G. H. Bache of Frankford, two nieces and one nephew.

The funeral service was held in the Free Methodist church, Newmarket, on Sunday, April 5. Rev.
A. B. Moffat conducted the service.
Interment was made in Queensville cemetery.

The pallbearers were Wm.
Draper, C. Draper, B. MacMillan,
W. McKinnon, H. Sedore and A.
Huntley.

eral, and was a member of the United Church. On February 23 of this year, Mr. and Mrs. Moore

MOVIES PARADE

Romantic, mysterious, decidedly out of the ordinary, is "Swamp Water," a picturization of the Veere Bell novel about the dread Okefenokee swamp.

A popular novel as well as an unusually successful magazine serial, it is different in that it begins in brooding mystery and terror but ends in sunshine and freedom and love.

Walter Brennan, Walter Huston, Anne Baxter and Dana Andrews are featured in "Swamp Water," which is showing on Friday and Saturday at the Strand theatre. The fine supporting cast includes Virginia Gilmore, John Caradine, Mary Howard and many others.

An uproarious comedy of errors, in which everyone seems to be two other people, aptly describes the riotous plot of the new Lupe Velez-Leon Errol laugh-film, "Mexican Spitfire at Sea," on the same program.

Because of many requests, the popular picture, "One Foot in Heaven," which was shown here only a few weeks ago, is being brought back to the Strand for two days only, next Monday and Tuesday. There is something about good acting on the screen.

Fredric March will be known for years as William Spence of "One Foot in Heaven" fame. He will be remembered as the crusading Methodist minister, who mellows with the passing of the years, under the skillful guidance of his wife, Hope Morris Spence, as played by Martha Scott. Hartzell Spence was the author of the book, a best seller.

On the same program, "The Stork Pays Off," pays off with gales of laughter, gobs of action and thrills galore, as "Slapsie" Maxie Rosenbloom and Victor Jory trade in their guns for aprons and play mother to a nursery. Rochelle Hudson appears in the feminine lead. It all happens when a gang of riotous racketeers move in on a nursery, thinking it's a nitery.

Abbott and Costello will be back at the Strand next Wednesday. Funnier than ever before, the inimitable pair are clad in spurs, chaps and ten-gallon hats. "Ride 'Em Cowboy" is by far the most pretentious and hilarious of their riotous vehicles, even topping their first smashing comedy, "Buck Privates." It has an even more diverting story thread than its predecessors, more impressive song numbers, a stronger cast and greater production values.

The story takes the comedians from their berths as hot dog vendors at a Long Island rodeo, shanghais them into Arizona and establishes them as cowhands at a dude ranch. They become entangled in a mesh of feminine pulchritude, wild steers, bucking broncos and last but not least, a tribe of Indians. Running throughout are two romantic threads that give aching sides a chance to ease themselves.

To You The Citizen

Loyal Canadians will be called upon April 27 for a straight "YES" or "NO" answer to the most important question ever placed before the Canadian people.

On that day the Dominion of Canada, the senior Dominion of the Great Commonwealth of Nations, through her people will decide for an unhindered all-out War Effort against the combined aggressors of all freedom of the people—OR—decide that we shall just drift down stream trusting in Divine Providence on the outcome without doing very much about it. It is your boy, your husband, brother, sweetheart, friend, who is over there looking for help. Can YOU, dare YOU, let them down? Shall brave men die because YOU faltered?

We hear the cry, "Come over and help us," and from the fields of Flanders the challenge, "Take up our quarrel with the foe." It is the voice of the dead that speaketh, "Dare we break faith with those who die?"

If you love your country you will vote "YES" on the 27th.

It depends on you.

Do not let it be said that Canada failed in the hour of need.

Spill the Axis rest by voting "YES."

JAMES BUTLER,

Toronto & York Plebiscite "YES" COMMITTEE,

GENERAL CHAIRMAN FOR YORK COUNTY VETERANS.

Impressive Service As Prof.
Muckle Laid To Rest

Youngest Brother of Dr. Muckle

The funeral service, conducted by Rev. Dr. Byrne, at the residence of the late Professor Leo A. Muckle in Ithaca, N.Y., was attended by many members of the staff of Cornell University, and with whom he was associated in his work. From his residence in Ithaca, his remains were removed to Rochester, N.Y., where, at the home of Mrs. Muckle's mother, the brothers, sister and wife of the deceased received the sympathy of a great many Rochester friends. Thirty-two farm bureau agents of the counties over which Mr. Muckle was agricultural supervisor, acted as guard of honor in the funeral procession at Holy Rosary Church.

The celebrant of the Solemn Requiem Funeral Mass was Rev. John F. Muckle. Rev. Chas. E. Muckle was deacon, and Rev. Joseph T. Muckle was sub-deacon. Rev. W. D. Muckle was master of ceremonies.

Assisting in the Sanctuary were Rt. Rev. Mounjou Hart, Vicar-General of Rochester Diocese; Rt. Rev. Msgr. Burns, Rt. Rev. Msgr. Chas. Shay; also professors from St. Bernard's Seminary and twenty other priests from different parts of the Diocese. Most Rev. James E. Kearney, D.D., Bishop of Rochester, conducted the services at the grave.

Besides his four brothers, who are priests, Mr. Muckle is survived by his dear wife Marguerite; his aged father, Thomas Muckle of Stanley, N.Y.; his sisters, Sister Mary Charles, principal of St. Thomas School, Rochester; Mrs. Geo. McWilliams and Mrs. John McWilliams, both of Stanley, and Andrew Muckle of Stanley.

Levi Muckle was the youngest of six brothers and the first one of a family of nine children to be called out of this life. He was born Nov. 9, 1894, in Stanley, N.Y., and spent his childhood on the farm. He attended the county school, the Catholic high school in Rochester, two years in Notre Dame University and two years in Cornell University where he obtained his Bachelor of Science degree in 1917.

HON. W. P. MULOCK
AND LEX MCKENZIE

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 7) take the attitude that it is unnecessary, but be that as it may we must vote in favour of it. The government has decided it is the only thing they can do. It is our duty as Canadians to vote for this. It would be disastrous if this should go into the discard. Our grandchildren would look upon it with shame. Let us get behind it and see that it is done."

"I quite agree with the previous speakers," said Alderman Bowser. "But I wonder how far we should go with this. I understand there is going to be a meeting here Friday night, but I believe we are losing a lot of time until then. A good many people are taking a political view. I heard one man say to-day that they burnt their fingers a few years ago, now let them wear the burns. They claim it is a waste of money. I don't believe it is. We don't want to waste from now until Friday."

"I am very proud of being your Mayor when men of different politics take this attitude," said Mayor Dales. "We don't need to wait until Friday night. Before Friday night we are going to ask that the reeves be responsible for their own districts. I would like the council to pay for house to house dodgers, a few large advertising posters and some programs for Friday night."

"I believe the number of people who would vote 'no' are in a small minority," stated Alderman Spillotte. "This plebiscite is a mark of purely democratic government and real constructive legislation. I don't think it is a waste of money. We should try to get everyone out to vote."

"In view of the shortage of gas and tires we should do everything to urge the people to go to the polls and not to sit and wait for a car," said Reeve Lundy. "Our people have got in a desperate state. If the Japs were at the door they would soon get out. Let us urge the people, with all the vigor we possess, to go to the polls. If it is only one quarter of a mile it takes gas and tires."

"You have educated them to wait for cars," chided the clerk. "I'll resist all my impulses," stated Alderman Armstrong.

"I am heartily in favour of the matter," said Clerk Mathews. "I will be very willing to do anything in my power to help the vote along."

It was moved by Deputy-Reeve Vale, and seconded by Alderman Evans that the finance committee be authorized to allot an amount not exceeding $200 to help defray expenses in connection with the forthcoming plebiscite. Carried.

"A committee has already been formed and they have engaged Mr. Trapp," informed the Mayor. "There is going to be a tremendous amount of work and running around. The former victory loan office in the hotel has been rented and the same clerical help hired. $200 is only a drop in the bucket."

"The band and veterans are going to parade Friday night to create interest in the meeting," said Bill White.

"I would say that the hill was about six hundred feet long," stated Constable William Hill. "The Pickrell car would be three quarters of the way up the hill. The Johnston car was within about 60 feet of the top of the hill. The skid marks of the Pickrell car started from the centre line."

"I started to pass the car before I met the solid line," testified accused, who told that he had been working with Eric Pickrell in Toronto all winter. "I tooted my horn and proceeded to pass. When I turned out he swung over to the left, not a great deal, but just enough to keep me from passing. He made me go to the shoulder. There was a drain there and I figured I hit the drain. I was a little ahead of it when I lost control. I was driving a '32 Ford V8 and travelling about forty to forty-five miles an hour."

"I feel in this case that you were both guilty of pranks," commented His Worship. "Two boys go out and try to be smart, and as a result your best friend is killed. The other boy cannot be punished. I don't want to make a hasty judgment, and am going to remand you in custody one week. I think it will do you good."

Lyon G. Thorne of Aurora, charged by Constable Alex. Ferguson with careless driving, was fined $25 and costs, or fifteen days and his license to drive was cancelled for six months.

Constable Ferguson testified that accused had been driving a 1936 Oldsmobile on the highway south of Bradford, and it showed all signs of rolling over. He found the car badly damaged and believed that the accident was caused from a blow out. No other car was involved. This car had previously been in two accidents and had not been repaired.

"I was going to Bradford at a moderate rate of speed and the car acted rather peculiarly," testified accused. "The tire didn't blow out, just went flat. I tried to brake it and bring it under control, but got excited. I didn't realize my tires were so bad."

Several convictions against accused were read.

"I think you were quite lucky that you didn't kill someone else or yourself," said His Worship.

A charge of failing to pay wages against Roy Murrell of Sharon was dismissed.

Gregory Hodges of R. R. 2, Newmarket, claimed that he was working for Mr. Crawford sawing logs, and Mr. Crawford referred him to Mr. Murrell. He believed $15.25 was owing to him.

William Crawford testified that it was his responsibility as he hired all the help. He authorized Murrell to give accused $13, which he believed was the correct amount, but the complainant wouldn't accept it. He was willing to pay him that amount.

"According to your own story your contract was with Crawford, not Murrell," ruled His Worship. "If you don't feel its enough lay the charge against Mr. Crawford."

A bench warrant was issued for Alexander Lee McPhee of Toronto on charges of illegal possession, and drunk in a public place, laid by Constable Ronald Watt.

Charged by Constable Ronald Watt with having bad lights, George Porter of Bolton and Byron Walker of Newmarket were each fined $10 and costs.

Hugh Gallie of Toronto, charged by Constable Ferguson with having bad lights, was fined $1 and costs.

King Township Red Cross Branch
News

This has been a war of the unexpected. Countries unprepared for war have been over-run by our enemies. The war, once so far away in our imagination, now assumes a menacing form. And with each successive outbreak and as the theatre of war spreads over the continents emergencies arise. What the future holds for us no one can tell. But that emergencies will arise in the future is a certainty.

When the Red Cross canvasser calls on you next month, remember the first duty of the Red Cross is to prepare for emergencies. There are many instances in these dark days when the Red Cross Society has been ready when the emergency arose.

The March issue of the Reader's Digest contained an article by Allan Michie, correspondent for "Life" and "Time," regarding the American Red Cross. "The Red Cross Was Ready." He wrote "As one of the first war correspondents to reach Hawaii after Pearl Harbor Sunday, I was struck by one bright spot in all that tragedy: THE RED CROSS HAD BEEN READY. I dread thinking of how much worse the confusion and suffering would have been if Red Cross workers hadn't been right on the job, organized for instant action. We now know officially that the U.S. armed forces were not on the alert on that lazy Sunday morning. Most of Hawaii's civilian organizations were afflicted with the same complacency. But within a few minutes after the first Jap bombs rained down on Pearl Harbor, Red Cross workers manned all their prearranged posts."

With your help the Canadian Red Cross will stand ready.

Remember, Canadians, your Red Cross can only be ready if it receives sufficient support from you.

To be prepared to meet any emergency that may arise here requires funds. You can do your part in supplying those funds.

If a Canadian "Pearl Harbour" should happen, it will then be too late to give your subscription.

When you hand your donation to the Red Cross you can be certain that no matter where an emergency arises in this country or overseas, that through your support, the Red Cross is ready to help those who suffer from the bombing and attack of our foes. There are dark days ahead. Emergencies will arise. Give freely so that the Red Cross can be prepared to do its part.

KESWICK

Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair of Ringwood, were guests on Sunday of their daughter, Mrs. Serrick, and Rev. Serrick.

Keswick friends are very sorry to hear of the illness of Mrs. R. M. Connell at her home in Newmarket.

Miss Margaret Peel was at home from Toronto for the weekend.

Miss Marjorie Glover of Toronto, spent the weekend a guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Prosser.

The ice is cleared from Cook's Bay, but has been doing considerable damage to docks and wharves at Island Grove. The ice started piling there on Friday night and ice-flows, driven by east and northeast winds, broke up municipal and summer cottagers' docks, wharves and breakwaters in the Island Grove area. The ice continued smashing at docks all Friday night and Saturday. The most damage was done to the Island Grove ferry dock, and those owned by H. H. Willoughby, Island Grove, H. E. Livingston and Dr. C. H. Breerton of Toronto.

Miss Lynn Marritt, who has been spending some weeks with relatives in Toronto, is expected home this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hodgson of Toronto, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Orville King.

The Christian Church will not hold their monthly Ladies' Aid tea until further notice, owing to the illness of several of the members.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of Toronto were guests on Sunday of Mrs. Wm. Terry who is still confined to bed.

The heavy snowstorm of Friday and Saturday was quite a surprise after our springlike weather, and back to digging paths not so interesting. However, the snow has nearly all disappeared and we feel sure spring is just around the corner.

Mrs. Cecil Taylor has been recently married to Mr. White of Mount Pleasant where they will reside. Mrs. Taylor has been a very faithful worker in the Christian church here, and her many friends regret losing her from Keswick.

The Lakeside Women's Institute for the month of April will be held at the home of Mrs. J. Baines on Tuesday, April 21. There will be a paper on "Home Economics," by Mrs. Friend Morton. "Season Health Hints" by Miss Eva Gilroy. A demonstration. Election of officers. Hostesses, Mrs. Roy Pollock, Mrs. J. King.

Keswick United Church

The regular meeting of the W.A. of Keswick United Church was held on Thursday afternoon, April 9. Mrs. Dan. McGenerty had charge of the very fine worship service at which Mrs. R. K. Prosser, Mrs. Leslie Morton and Mrs. George White contributed a delightful vocal number. Mrs. W. Davison, president, presided over the business period. It was decided to dispense with the May supper, but one will be held in June as usual. The supper which was served to a very large number from six o'clock, was most delicious and many compliments were paid to those in charge of all supper arrangements, viz Mrs. George Hamilton, Mrs. O. M. King, Mrs. Orvan Huntley and Mrs. F. Peel.

The guests were graciously welcomed by Mrs. Davison and Mrs. Gordon Lapp. At the conclusion of the pleasant meal time, a very educational and interesting evening was enjoyed, as Mr. J. Carhart of Toronto, so well known in Keswick, showed several rolls of films, many local views, as well as Northern Ontario, Muskoka, Haliburton, and scenes from Virginia up the New Jersey Coast were greatly enjoyed. Others who contributed to the very excellent program were Miss Jean Huntley who gave a reading "The Timid One." The Misses Evelyn and Marion King, two well-played instrumental duets, and Misses Patti and Lillian Connell, a vocal duet. These numbers were all well received, and the young artists deserving in each instance of the hearty applause they were given. Rev. Gordon Lapp, on behalf of the audience, thanked Mr. Carhart for his coming from Toronto, to bring so much pleasure, and also thanked the others who had added much to the program.

The wonderful response to the suppers this winter has been a sense of real gratification to the members of the W.A., their hard-working president, Mrs. W. J. Davison, and conveners of the various suppers, etc. The financial returns each month having been far in excess of other winter affairs, and when it was announced that almost $44 had been taken in that night, once more the ladies felt repaid for all the work these suppers mean. From money raised at these events several improvements etc. have been made possible. The president thanks all for their co-operation.

The services on Sunday, with Rev. Mr. Stuart of Sutton as guest preacher both times, were well attended, and Mr. Stuart's fine sermons appreciated and enjoyed. In the morning the choir sang "God So Loved The World," and in the evening Miss Gilroy sang "Show Me My Task," as a solo, very pleasingly.

Rev. Gordon Lapp was in Toronto attending Boys' Work Council on Monday.

Miss Marjorie Glover of Toronto, spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Prosser.

On Saturday Mr. A. M. Colville attended the 14th annual reunion of the 38th battalion association, held at the Walker House. These reunions keep alive the spirit of comradeship which grew out of the sharing of bad times and good in 1914-18.

The Misses Irene Harper, Irene McNichol, Hulda Starr, Florence Tucker and Doris Penrose were supper guests on Friday evening at the home of Miss Frances Stickwood.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ridley spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mrs. Gordon McClure visited her sister, Mrs. C. Morton and Mr. Morton at Queenville on Sunday.

"Any rags, any bones, any bottles today," was an old song that one heard years ago, but I never expected to hear it chanted by a charming young miss in our own yard. But chanted it was, and soon our share of papers, magazines, etc. were expertly loaded into the big wagon by Frances Stickwood, Irene McNichol and Alta Druery, and then said wagon, drawn by nice fat dappled grey horses, expertly managed by Frances, drove off with our contribution to the two tons collected by Pine Orchard, Bogartown and Pleasantville. Mrs. Ross Armistage acted as charioteer for Pine Orchard.

Mrs. Barnstaple and daughter, Yvonne, of Oakville, have been visiting Mrs. Barnstaple's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Ridley. Mrs. Barnstaple and Mrs. Caulfield of Aurora took tea on Friday evening for all that taffy, round and round about our hands was firmly wound, and to ourselves and to each other we'd stick as closely as a brother. And when ourselves we did unwind, from where those taffy garlands twined, more butter we would gladly nab and for the taffy, once more grab. We pulled in rings and strings and curls, we pulled it frontward and in purls. We flipped it here and flapped it there, until it grew more palely fair, and Hulda there pronounced it done, but it had certainly been fun. And it was creamy, rich and soft, as we repeated, oft and oft, and felt we had a good job done, as well as having lots of fun.

So then, the produce of our skill, we sampled with a right good will, and felt, no taffy ever eaten, could have this well-pulled product beaten and vowed, that we, the world could show, what it of taffy didn't know.

Taffy Pull

One day when sap was flowing free, a young friend came and said to me, "how would you like to have a try at pulling taffy?" Then said I, "It's thirty years ago, I know, in fact it's just so long ago, that I am sure I've lost the art, and wouldn't know how to start." But nothing daunted Hulda seemed, in fact her pleasant face quite beamed, and "Stuart, Lawrence, Joyce and I, will come prepared to show you why, and Mr. Colville too, should know how.

SUTTON LOSE CLOSE CONTESTS TO QUEBEC

(Continued from Page 1, Col. 4)ings, you would know what I mean. While in London I saw a picture of different ways that they're helping and it showed young girls on farms, milking, haying, ploughing, really working hard; this is called the Women's Land Army. It showed them working in munition factories for 10 and 12 hours a day and then helping in men's canteens at night. It also showed women working in foundries with hot iron in temperature of about 130 degrees. I certainly take my hat off to the women in this country, who go about their work with never a grumble.

I have reasons to believe we will all be home by fall, but I can't tell you why. This seems to be the general opinion over here and I think Hitler is in for a big surprise very shortly.

I haven't received any mail from you yet, but I'm waiting patiently. I'm certainly expecting a lot of mail when it does start to come.

I hope you've got some names and addresses for me to look up because I'll never leave camp again until I've some place to go to.

Well, I'd better close for now, but I'll write again in a couple of days. I hope you can make this out, but I haven't got a pen and I'm nearly out of writing paper. Hoping to hear from you soon, and to receive a parcel with some smokes and candy.

Lots of love,

Mervyn.
